A Letter From the Board Chair

Growing up on the Chesapeake Bay, I learned that navigating to a fixed point is never as simple as it sounds.

The wind and tide constantly push you off course.

As I take the helm of the VPAP Board of Directors, my colleagues and I will keep those lessons in mind in the next year as we hone VPAP's course and update its strategic plan.

The first step will be to survey and interview our many stakeholders. We want to hear from you if you think we're on the right course.

We also would like your thoughts on what other content that would be ripe for VPAP's fact-based, nonpartisan approach.

On behalf of the entire VPAP Board of Directors, I would like to thank the more than 1,200 companies, groups and individuals whose generous support makes our work possible.

There's a saying: "It's sometimes hard to tell if the light marks the channel or the rocks." Here's to a year, with your help, that VPAP sails straight, true and in the channel.

Civics Education Workshops Take Off!

This summer, VPAP expanded the reach of our civics education initiative—hosting 58 teachers in four sessions across the state.

The teachers left excited to add VPAP's maps and visualizations to their lesson plans. They also had the opportunity to share VPAP resources with their colleagues through in-service trainings.

We not only taught but learned a lot about how to improve vpap.org for middle and highschool classrooms.

VPAP EVENTS

Lighten Up, It's Just Politics!

May 3

VPAP's annual luncheon is a rare unifying event in Virginia politics that offers all sides a chance to come together. Officeholders from both parties try stand-up comedy and make lighthearted jabs at themselves and others.

More than 500 people—from government affairs professionals to political activists—enjoyed comedic turns by Gov. Ralph Northam and U.S. Rep. Dave Brat. Beau Cribbs (left) warmed up the crowd as master of ceremonies.

After Virginia Votes

November 13

Virginia's election calendar would not be complete without VPAP's post-election retrospective—a unique dialogue between strategists from Democratic and Republican campaigns.

"After Virginia Votes" is organized by VPAP and hosted by the Schar School of Policy and Government at George Mason University.

This year's event offered a behind-the-scenes look at Virginia's midterm elections from U.S. Sen. Tim Kaine's campaign manager Kéren Charles Dongo and veteran Republican strategist Chris Jankowski.
